

Vocations Days

August 3-4, 2010

Have you considered the possibility that God may be offering you the priceless gift of a vocation to the religious life?

Here is a perfect opportunity to take a few days this summer to spend a few days with the Sisters and learn about their way of life.

The peace and joy of the religious life cannot be understood by the world, for it is given only to hearts that give themselves wholly to God. In the convent one finds truly that "Our hearts were made for Thee, O Lord, and they are restless until they rest in Thee."

Do you have a sense that something is missing in your life? that there is something more to the fleeting pleasures that the world has to offer? Are you afraid that convent life is a dreary, joyless existence without love? Now is the time to find out . . .

Come, My daughter, and follow Me;
Give me thy whole heart, and I will give thee Mine. . .

Come and See . . .

- Follow the schedule along with the Sisters and see how they live, work, pray, eat, play
- Attend Holy Mass, the recitation of the Divine Office, community prayers with the Sisters
- Learn about the vows and religious life, about silence, prayer and recollection
- See what motivates the Sisters in their various works and activities
- Speak with Sisters informally about questions you may have about convent life
- Spend time in reflection and prayer about your future
- Learn about the spirituality and the apostolates of the Congregation of Mary Immaculate Queen

Sponsored by the Sisters of the Congregation of Mary Immaculate Queen
