

Is God calling you? Here's your chance to come and see during the Marian Sisters'

Vocations Weekend

March 5-7, 2010

St. Michael's Convent in Spokane, WA

The question of a religious vocation is a topic many girls approach with curiosity, confusion, discomfort or even dread.

"It's not for me," some insist. Others wonder silently, hesitating, yet drawn by something. "How could I give up so much and be happy?" asks another. But then it strikes her that the Sisters seem content and happy even in the midst of great hardships.

How can you know for sure?

One thing is certain: you won't know if you don't try to find out what it's all about.

- Do you have a sense that maybe — just maybe — God might be calling you?
- Do you want to be like everyone else, but nothing really seems to satisfy the longings of your heart?
- Are you curious about what's really behind those walls?

Come and See...

If you cannot make these dates, St. Michael's Convent will also be having Vocations Days before or after the Girls' Summer Camp. Details and dates will be available later.

- Follow the schedule along with the Sisters and see how they live, work, pray, eat, play
- Attend Holy Mass, the recitation of the Divine Office, community prayers with the Sisters
- Learn about the vows and religious life, about silence, prayer and recollection
- See what motivates the Sisters in their various works and activities
- Speak with Sisters informally about questions you may have about convent life
- Spend time in reflection and prayer about your future

Sponsored by the Sisters of the Congregation of Mary Immaculate Queen
