My child, listen to the voice of my Divine Son:
“Come, follow Me...”

So few love Him today, and even fewer love Him enough to sacrifice themselves entirely for His sake and for souls. The harvest is great, and the laborers too few, and so many souls are being lost.

Jesus calls many to follow Him, but few will even consider it. The world and its pleasures drown out His voice. What more can He do to show His love?

Are you afraid? Do you think religious life is sad or lonely?

Ah, if you only knew what treasures He gives to those who give Him all, and what happiness they experience both in this life and in the next!...
